

To Serve You Better

Today in our fast moving world, it is often easy to become caught up in feelings of anxiety and depression, due to the pressures we face each day. Often the critical point in these pressures can come on too strongly when there is no one to relate these problems to.

The importance of having someone to talk to when you are feeling troubled can be greatly rewarded when you realize that someone has taken the time to give of themselves to listen to you.

Often the importance of talking about our problems is so great that by neglecting communication one may only confuse the situation more. Heavy psychological burdens are something we can all do without. Knowing that somebody cares about how you feel is a direct release of pent-up feelings. The warmth and sincerity that people can communicate to each by giving can help us learn about ourselves as human beings.

The time you give to listen to someone could be so important to them that you may prevent a person from inflicting psychological or possibly physical pain upon themselves.

It is a reassuring feeling to know that there are people always standing by willing to listen to you, no matter how big or small the matter may be. We at "I. M. LISTENING" are doing just that.

Bear Mountain Ordered Closed

Bear Mountain resort was ordered boarded up by Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth in a court hearing held in Bay City last Tuesday, due to financial woes at the Mountain. The order will stand until a suit is settled.

Statements by attorneys at the hearing revealed that neither the state or federal government want to pay even the costs of having the Polyhedron ski lodge put in mothballs.

But Roth ordered the federal Economic Development Administration to pay for utilities, insurance and maintenance to preserve the lodge.

He said he would decide later how much of the cost the state should pay.

Judge Roth stated he will push for a quick trial to determine who actually owns the 1,200 acres where the lodge, ski resort and recreation complex are located.

He said he will bring into the case the heirs of Rasmus Hanson, who gave the land to the state in 1913, with provisions that it be used for fresh-air camps, a game preserve or for training of the state militia. The entire grant totaled more than 13,000 acres.

Roth did not set a date for a trial, but told attorneys to push ahead with fact-gathering on the title issue, which he said should not take too long.

He said when the title question is cleared up, he will order full audits of the resort operation, dating back to 1966.

Judge Roth also ordered the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to keep the resort's liquor license in escrow, although the agency has threatened to revoke the license on April 30.

Fred Mester, assistant U.S. attorney, was told by the judge, to work through Receiver Horace D. Hodge, of Bay City, to preserve the assets of Bear Mountain.

Mester had asked Roth to put the resort in bankruptcy and to order all parties to the suit to pay the costs. He also wanted to have the federal government be put ahead of trade creditors if the resort is liquidated.

He said the state and the Lake Margrethe Property Owners Assn., by filing a suit and the positions taken in the suit, have put a cloud on the title to Bear Mountain. This is preventing the EDA from getting more concessions on the land and operating the resort profitably so that the federal government can get some of its over $1 million back that it has invested in Bear Mountain.

Rep. Ostling Will Seek 2nd Term

State Representative Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon) today announced that he will seek another term in the Michigan House of Representatives, representing the 103rd legislative district.

Ostling, who is serving his first term in the House, is a member of the Social Services and Corrections, Mental Health and Conservation and Recreation Committees.

"My first year here in Lansing has been a busy and gratifying one and I am looking forward to another term in office because there are many issues facing us that need to be resolved."

"The first term is basically a learning experience. During the past year and a half, I have gained first hand knowledge and insight into the issues facing us, and more importantly, how a Legislator must work within the system to get things done," Ostling said.

During his first term in office, Representative Ostling has worked to gain a substantial increase in payments of the so-called "Swamp Tax." He has been heavily involved in campaign financing reform, an issue he terms "of major concern for this session of the legislature." In addition, Representative Ostling strongly supported the tax relief proposals enacted last year.

"I am hopeful that we can pass strong, meaningful campaign financing reform legislation to make sure that the sources of campaign funds and how they are spent is full public knowledge. I am also strongly in support of some form of legislation this year which will solve our teacher/school administration negotiations. We must insure that our school children begin their schooling on time in the fall," Ostling said.

Ostling represents the area [See Ostling page 9]

"Fiddler On The Roof" A Different Musical

Of all the items in the wide list which have been attributed to the American people, none is more distinctly American than the Broadway Musical. A musical is not the work of one person but rather is the collaboration of ideas of many people, which in itself is an important American principle. By and large, the musical is more important as a musical form than a literary one. Some have won important commendations even the Pulitzer Prize, but generally people leave a musical humming the tunes rather than pondering the story. Not so with "Fiddler". Many of the tunes of this great musical are not familiar, many have a haunting lonesome feeling while others do not lend themselves well to the average persons musical abilities.

"Fiddler On The Roof" is an adaptation of the Yiddish humor of writer Sholem Aleichem and is based upon events in the life of his great character Teyve the milkman (who will be played by Walt Kozicki in the local production) and the distinguishing characteristic of the show is its lack of [See Fiddler page 12]

It is our purpose to lead men to an encounter through surrender and commitment of their lives to Christ."

Reverend Childs is currently taking an active part walking with the New Life Walkers from Detroit to Grayling along with ministers of several other denominations.

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN—THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1974

The Celebration of Easter

This year Easter Sunday will fall on April 14. Since the very early days of the Christian church, this has been the great event of the year, commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ and the fulfillment of the promise of salvation for all people.

Since ancient times, churches and altars have been decorated for the occasion; candles have been burned; and, in the medieval cathedrals of England, the Easter or paschal candles were often of huge dimensions. They were held in gigantic brass or silver candlesticks and reached a combined height of as much as 60 or 70 feet.

This Easter, sunrise services, children hunting Easter eggs, families attending church together and the, sometimes frivolous, profusion of new "Easter bonnets" will be outward evidence of the 2,000-year continuity of the Christian celebration of Christ's resurrection and spiritual reality. It is a time to reaffirm our faith in Him who rose to lead mankind in the ways of peace and brotherhood and fulfill the promise of eternal life.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

From Calvary Baptist Church
On the Lutheran Controversy

Dr. J.A.O. Preus, president of the Lutheran church - Missouri Synod, and all Lutherans who support the infallibility and inerrancy of the Bible are to be commended for such a stand.

The controversy within the synod has arisen because of liberal theologians at Concordia Seminary who insist on denying the inerrancy and infallibility of the Bible. Dr. Preus has stated the issue clearly: "...The issue always has been and continues to be basically doctrinal. What is at stake is the Word of God in all its authority, clarity, and inerrancy."

The development of the problem is best described by Dr. Roland Wiederaenders in a paper presented in 1963 to the Council of Presidents and seminary faculties. "Despite repeated efforts we have not dealt honestly with our pastors and people. We have refused to state our changing theological position in open, honest, forthright, simple and clear words. Over and over again we said that nothing was changing when all the while we were aware of changes taking place."

The effect of the problem on the church over the past ten years is also described by Dr. Wiederaenders: "Quite generally our pastors and almost entirely our laity became more and more confused. Confusion led to uncertainty. Uncertainty led to polarization. Polarization destroyed credibility. Loss of credibility destroyed the possibility for meaningful discussion. The loss of meaningful discussion set the stage for a head-on collision."

The public manifestation of the problem came when the Board of Control of Concordia Seminary in compliance with resolution 3-09 of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, suspended John H. Tietjen, president of the seminary, on the charges of false doctrine and malfeasance of administration. Immediately the entire faculty and staff along with a majority of students walked out in protest. Dr. Tietjen and the other liberals who had created the problem, refused to even discuss the question of Bible inerrancy and infallibility. Dr. Preus has continued to call for discussion of the matter, pleading for unity, edification, respect and love within the church. Dr. Tietjen has said there is "no honorable way" to avoid "disaster." The liberals would rather destroy the church than acknowledge the Bible to be the inerrant, infallible Word of God.

All religious differences and problems arise from rebellion against God and His Word in principle or precept. This rebellion against God and His Word also leads to division between those in rebellion and those who are faithful to God's Word.

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." II Timothy 3:16,17.

Regardless of our differences of interpretation of the Bible, we should all unite our hearts in prayer for the noble efforts of Dr. Preus and all others who exalt the Bible as the inerrant, infallible Word of God.

Pastor Barnett

Pyrofax's John Russell asks,

"Will you please take 10 minutes to read the facts about propane prices?"

Most of our customers do not know it, but we at Pyrofax Gas for the last year have not set the prices of our own products.

You may ask, "Why not?" and "If you haven't, who has?"

The simple answer to both questions is the federal government in Washington, D.C., specifically the regulations of the Cost of Living Council and the Federal Energy Office. These regulations were designed to keep prices under control, but unfortunately they failed to do so in the case of propane.

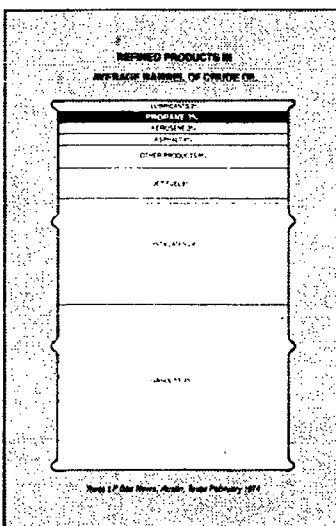

The two charts show what has happened in the last year to push propane prices, Pyrofax included, up.

First, you should understand some terms:

Brokers — Just what you think they are: one who buys and then brokers what he buys to someone else. But brokers escaped price controls on what they sold, because all companies with less than sixty employees were exempt from price controls. That means brokers could buy propane at most any price — and would pay most any price — because there was no ceiling on what they could sell it for (brokers sold primarily to manufacturers and other industrial users of propane, diverting large volumes from traditional markets). This helped drive the price up.

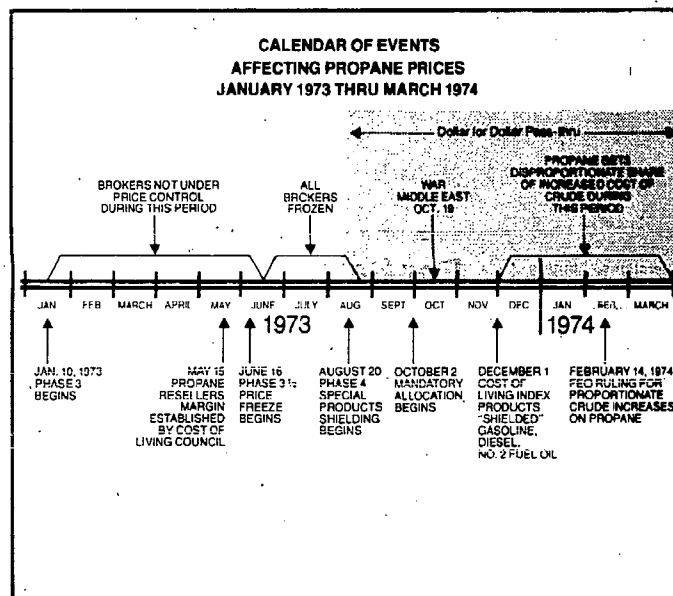

Propane Resellers — Pyrofax Gas is a reseller. Pyrofax is not a producer. Pyrofax buys gas from producers, primarily refiners, and resells it. Sales margins were frozen for all resellers, Pyrofax included, as of May 15, 1973.

Special Products Shielding — On August 20, 1973, prices of certain products of the producers and refiners were "shielded." That means prices producers could charge were frozen on three types of products that are produced from a barrel of crude oil. The three products were gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel. (These are the only petroleum products included in the Cost of Living Index.) These three categories account for 70% of a barrel of crude oil. Propane gas, among other products including asphalt, was not shielded. Ordinarily only 3% of a barrel of crude oil is ascribed to propane. As crude oil prices increased, many producers allotted more than 3% of each barrel to propane. Inevitably propane prices to resellers, Pyrofax included, increased. Resellers were allowed by law to pass-through to their customers, dollar for dollar, the increased cost from the producer to the reseller. But remember, the reseller's margin was already frozen by law.

So the increased prices you have paid for Pyrofax Gas reflect exactly the increased cost of the gas to Pyrofax.

FUTURE PRICES

In the last thirty days, wholesale costs of propane have declined, because the Federal Energy Office eliminated propane's disproportionate share of the increased cost of the barrel of crude oil. We passed these decreased costs on to you in decreased prices. It is impossible to predict the future, but you can be sure that Pyrofax is interested in serving you with the best possible fuel at a price you can live with comfortably.

We've been in this business fifty-one years. Service to our customers has always been our first concern. We have dependably served the public through wars, depression, and during this energy crisis not one Pyrofax customer failed to receive delivery because of lack of supply. The events of the past year have been frustrating to us. We know these same events have been upsetting to you.

We are confident that with an understanding of the facts, you will see that your trust in Pyrofax is not misplaced.

If you have questions still unanswered, please write to me at the address below.

Sincerely yours,

John P. Russell

Jack Pine's Stump

A springtime chore I really enjoy is raking, be it the garden, my skimpy yard or inside the house itself, where I have been alternating between the rake and the shovel. Anyway, I was out there just a-raking away with all my might when I discovered some green stuff starting to peep through in the garden. I guess I had raked a couple of the things up before I even noticed. And I fell to thinking about people who claim that if you talk to flowers they will do all sorts of nice things, like grow and bloom. So, needing a rest, I lit a cigarette and knelt down, ostensibly to look at what might be happening to the small sprouts. After peering around to be sure no one was watching, I whispered a sweet vulgarity to the thing. That is now my "control" plant. The others I continued to ignore. If the one I spoke to dies, I'll believe. If it grows bigger and better than the others, I'll also believe, 'cause most of my kids were raised on such tender comments and they flourished very well indeed. If it isn't affected, I'll go holler at it.

My bird feeder has more feed in it than my refrigerator does, which means that I have more birds than human visitors. Strange birds, weird birds, birds I have never seen. Somewhere in the shambles of my garage is a bird book, and I set about to look for it. No luck, but I did find a tennis racket, slightly warped; a wrench for my chain saw which I had lost two years ago; a ski sweater some mice had eaten up; some broken 78 RPM records and Lord knows what else. But no bird book. So I shall continue to live in bird-ignorance. Which reminds me of a story I heard recently about a man so mean he stapled worms to the ground just to give hernias to robins.

Note on the cancelled Great February Opossum Hunt: A week or so after the non-event, Alan Carr, of Carr Ceramics, came into the Avalanche and presented Editor Whitey and Jack Pine with beautiful newly-minted ceramic opossum key-chains. He regretted that he hadn't had them available in

BEAR ARCHERY PHOTOGRAPHER MURDERED IN TEXAS

Jim Pond, noted outdoor photographer, from Dallas, Texas who many residents know from his frequent photography assignments for Bear Archery in the Grayling area was shot and killed by a burglar last week in his home in Dallas according to word received here.

Mr. Pond most recently was in Grayling this past summer shooting the current Bear Archery Advertising Campaign. Many local young people posed for Mr. Pond with Fred Bear at that time. He began working for Bear Archery in 1966 and had done nearly all of Bear's color photography for their advertisements and catalogs since that time.

He reportedly was home ill with the flu when an unknown assailant broke into his home in the middle of the day in one of Dallas' finest neighborhoods. It is suspected that Mr. Pond surprised the burglar in the act and was shot. Mr. Pond was buried last week in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Westbrook were in Joliet Ill. last week for the funeral of his brother. We would like to send our condolences.

April 18 will be the next Homecoming meeting, held in the Sportsman's Hall at 8:00 p.m. There were 15 present at the last meeting. We need more people to come out. Please come and see what we are doing to make plans for the Homecoming. Yes, we are going to have the Ox Roast this year.

We are still in need of Glens grocery tapes for the Frederic Library.

Keep watch for the Auction and Flea Market day to be set. Anyone wishing to donate please call 348-8080 or 348-8366.

On Friday, August 9, there will be a pet show, races, tug-of-war for the childrens afternoon.

Remember when you used to come to the Church when the bell rang? Why not come again? The bell is now ringing at the First Baptist Church in Frederic. We want to thank Jerry Hubert, who constructed our bell tower so we might once again hear the bell ring out over the town of Frederic.

Protecting the husband

When my wife asked me why I was 2 hours late for dinner, I told her I couldn't tell her because I had to protect the confidentiality of the husband.

I don't care about myself but it is my duty to think of the future. I don't want to set any precedents that will shatter the happiness of husbands yet unborn and unwed.

It is important to the security of the husband that wives not be allowed to go on fishing expeditions. Wives must be required to specifically describe the information they are seeking. They must not be allowed to paw through a husband's entire day on the pretense of investigating 1 alleged tardiness.

I cannot be influenced by what the polls show concerning my loss of popularity in the bedroom. Oh, it would be easy for me to tell my wife everything I do when she is not looking. But this would be cowardly. This would be breaking faith with the husband.

Let me make 1 thing perfectly clear. I have done nothing wrong. I am not a philanderer or a loiterer on street corners. I have nothing to hide. But when my wife asks me such a general question as "Where were you?" I cannot answer her without endangering the peace of every man who, in the thousands of years to come, will shoulder the grave responsibilities of the husband.

A husband could miss the 9 a.m. train to work. This would set his entire day's schedule back 1 hour.

The ultimate result is he arrives back home at 7 p.m. instead of 6 p.m. And his wife asks: "Where have you been?"

That is the type of fishing expedition which, if allowed, could destroy the husband.

The wife really wants to know where the husband was at 6 p.m. when she expected him home. But this is not what she asked. Instead she asked for an irrelevant review of his entire day. This type of haphazard investigation gnaws away at the very foundation of the husband.

The husband cannot risk responding to such a scatter-gun inquisition. His answer would be subject to too many different interpretations. To explain why he was late for dinner the husband would also have to explain why he was late for every appointment that day including lunch. The wife was not a party to this lunch and it has no bearing whatsoever upon her inquiry. It is none of her business that it took 3 hours. Besides, the finest husbands, including Abraham Lincoln, always took long lunch hours.

Wives must clearly define the scope of their investigations. A proper question would be: "Were you late for dinner because you had to stop to save 16 orphan babies from drowning?"

To protect the confidentiality of the husband, the husband should answer no questions that can't be answered with a simple yes or no. Thank you, Mr. President.

Bicycle Tour of Europe

Final Travelogue Tuesday

The final program in Grayling's first annual Travel and Adventure Series will be shown in the Joseph Stripe Auditorium on Tuesday evening, April 16, beginning at 8:00 p.m. At that time Julian Gromer, one of the favorites of travelogue audiences across the country will present an exciting film documentary of forty-four college men as they pedal ten - speed bikes 3000 miles across Europe.

With the coming of the energy crisis, bicycling is becoming as popular and practical in the United States as it has been in Europe for many years. Riding a bicycle across Europe is a practical and thrilling way to see the spectacular and historical wonders of this continent, namely the countries of Belgium, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Austria and Holland.

Peddaling over St. Gotthard Pass in the Swiss Alps is a rugged test of the riders endurance and stamina. Going down the other side of the mountain in rain and fog, on slippery, rough cobblestone roads is a bit exciting. Each night the cyclists set up their tents in one of Europe's many colorful camp-grounds.

Ride with them down narrow tree-lined roads amid the fields of poppies, golden grain and manicured forests. Mile after exciting mile you will follow the banks of the Rhine and the Danube Rivers, explore picturesque villages, towns and castles along the way, watch a chimney sweep at work and a stork nesting on top of a chimney. Colors are everywhere for Europeans enjoy the many flowers around their homes, and through the camera eye of Julian Gromer, these flowers grow 20,000 times faster than normal.

All of this high adventure is yours to enjoy, plus a lively narration and complete musical background with sound effects. The original film rather than a print is presented for the sharpest picture possible along with Julian Gromer's narration in person. Doors to the Auditorium, which is located in the new high school north of Grayling, will open at 7:15 p.m. and the last travelogue of the season will begin promptly at 8:00 p.m. Individual tickets for this program will be on sale at the door.

On Tuesday evening, April 16, Julian Gromer will be in Grayling to personally narrate his exciting motion picture, "Wheels Across Europe," which is an exciting true-life documentary of a three thousand mile bicycle ride across the continent of Europe. Some rare effects in Mr. Gromer's film include flowers growing 20,000 times faster than normal and the formation of tiny, colorful crystals into fantastic patterns through the use of devices developed and custom made by him. Mr. Gromer's films have won two Grand Awards from the Photographic Society of America.

Very soon we will be voting for our new Board of Officers. It is up to you girls to vote for the right women. Don't vote for a girl just because she is your personal friend, or because she will buy you a beer. Vote for the one who can and will do the job. There have been some who ran (and were elected) only for the prestige, didn't work and didn't intend to work. You are voted to the Board to do a job which, as I have said in the past, we have plenty of. If you don't intend to work, for heavens sake, step down from the nomination. You will do yourself and the Chapter, (and the person who nominated you) a favor.

Don't forget a Pot Luck supper starting at 6:00, Men and Women, on April 15th. Jean Ann Gardiner, Plecty.

Workshops on Supplemental Security Income for the Mentally Retarded

The new Supplemental Security Income program (SSI) went into effect January 1, 1974. Under this program the Social Security Administration is now administering the direct payment program for the aged, blind and disabled (including the mentally retarded).

The Michigan Association for Retarded Children and Adults is planning a series of SSI workshops in cooperation with Social Security, the Department of Social Services, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services, and the Disability Determination Unit of Vocational Rehabilitation Services. The purpose of the workshops is to provide facts on SSI and related services to assist parents, agencies, individuals and professionals in obtaining SSI financial benefits and services for the mentally retarded.

Three SSI workshops will be held this Spring with a follow-up workshop at the MARCA Annual Conference in June. The three Spring workshops will be identical and are scheduled regionally in different locations to enable you to participate in the one most convenient for you to attend. The workshop in our area will be May 9 at Bill Oliver's Lake Front Motor Lodge in Pruden, Michigan starting at 8:30 a.m. The registration fee for each workshop is $5.00 for each attending, and will include lunch, coffee and cost for facilities.

If you plan to attend, please indicate you will attend May 9 and return your check for $5.00 made out to the Michigan Association for Retarded Children and Adults, and mail to: Michigan Association for Retarded Children and Adults, 510 Michigan National Tower, Lansing, Michigan 48933.

To the Editor:

To many citizens with household pets it may come as a surprise to know your animal can sicken and die without too much warning. There is a virus which can strike causing the bladder to be unable to be voided, the whole urinary tract will infect and crystals form and cause much damage.

There are many Veterinarians with the proper training but they lack two key ingredients to make them valued and appreciated. They are dedication and cleanliness. We are most fortunate that we now have Dr. Casler here in Grayling, he saved our pet's life. If the animal had died I would still appreciate the effort and patience the Dr. has shown.

The command "sit" -

The "sit" exercise is a very important one and absolutely necessary for successful discipline. This exercise can be taught as early as 10 or 12 weeks when the puppy should be able to recognize the word "sit" and eventually come to obey it. The correct sitting position should be established from the start. Teach the puppy to sit with its back quite straight, with its chest out and with an alert expression. Put on the normal collar and lead and take the dog to a quiet spot. Press your hands on the puppy's hips and at the same time tell it to "sit". Keep pressing down until the command is obeyed, then praise the puppy for obeying it. Repeat this exercise several times until the puppy understands just what is wanted.

Do not continue these lessons for too long at the start as the puppy will get bored and want to dash off.

If the puppy needs correction, only indicate this with your voice. By now your puppy should know what a cross voice means. Use only the word "sit", not "sit down" or any other phrases with additional words. At this stage of training, it is very important for the puppy to be taught by one person only. The puppy will only get confused if several members of the family try to convey a message at the same time. If the puppy is muddled it will give up trying, which is neither fair to the dog nor its trainer. When it does obey, never forget to praise it. Once in a while a tidbit may be given as a reward. But not too often as it can become one-sided. Once the puppy will sit on command take it away from the familiar surroundings and into a public place, such as a busy street or shopping center, and make it put into practice what has been taught at home.

If the initial training has been correct this should not be too difficult and the puppy should quickly obey and sit as told. Do not forget there will be many distractions in a public place including thoughtless humans who will come up and pat the dog. It must learn to ignore all these things and certainly needs plenty of understanding and sympathy from the owner-trainer during his lesson if success is to be achieved.

Next week - Advanced lesson of "Sit and Come."

The Winner of the Bar Bucks for Easter Seals was the Chief Shoppenagons Pioneer Room. We really want to express our appreciation to the Pioneer Room employees for doing an excellent job on selling the Bar Bucks.

We understand that some people didn't get their appeal letter in the mail this year, as we sent out 2000 letters we're not sure what happened to them. If you would like to contribute this year, put your donation in an envelope and send it to the Grayling State Bank with your return address on the envelope.

The B.A.C. buttons are on sale at the local restaurants and in Frederic and Lovells. Get your B.A.C. buttons before Friday and be able to drink your coffee free on Good Friday.

It takes everybody in a small community like ours to make a success of any campaign and I'm sure that the majority of the people will agree that Easter Seals serves a great many in our community and needs the support of all of you. Connie Vaughn

SUNDAY'S SERMON

As Easter Approaches

Christmas is a joyful time. We celebrate the birth of Christ and most people are in the holiday spirit. Presents are given and gifts are received. But Easter is perhaps a more joyful holiday than Christmas.

Of course, our homes are not as decorated with holiday trimmings at Easter as they are at Christmas. Stores aren't open as late in the evenings preceding Easter as they are preceding Christmas. But Easter and the Resurrection of Christ is the very foundation of our beliefs and faith. Without the Risen Saviour Christmas would have little meaning.

Easter may not be as commercialized a holiday as Christmas is in this country. But Easter is the most joyous holiday for the spirits of men. When Easter morning arrives and we commemorate that He is risen, the joy that fills our souls can be truly overwhelming. For He is with us now, and He is ready to help you right this very minute. All you have to do is call on Him through prayer.

Mission

21-26 to be New Life Mission Week in Grayling. In making the Proclamation Mayor McEvers noted that "the community is receptive to the New Life Mission and is ready to receive the preaching, teaching, reaching and sharing approach to communicating the Gospel."

Community Invited

Area church, youth, fraternal, senior citizen and Bible Study groups are invited to attend one or all of the nightly sessions on April 21-26 individually or in groups. More information can be obtained by calling Reverend Paul Frederick at 348-3471.

Neil Byce, Chairman of the New Life Mission stated "the objective of the New Life Mission, as in the current New Life Walk with Jesus, is to awaken in all of us regardless of denomination an understanding of who Jesus is and what he taught. We welcome and invite everyone in the community to join with us in this meditation and in as many of these nightly meetings as possible. Only good for the community and our daily lives can result."

Fiddler

familiar commercial attributes. The show is not only without a chorus line of dancing girls but is a musical stained with tragedy and which ends with a note of pathos rather than the traditional grandiose finale.

There will be a special premier showing on Saturday, May 4. Each member of the company will be permitted to invite two people to this special premier. There will also be a special list of invited guests.

The support role of Golde, the wife of Tevye the dairyman will be played by Miss Holly Knibbs, a senior at Grayling High School. Holly will be remembered for her portrayal of Karen Nash in the 1973 production of "Plaza Suite". She also appeared in previous musical productions of "Hello Dolly," "Sound Of Music" and "Mame."
